A Powerful Partnership

Norhurst Tactical is a service-disabled veteran-owned company that exemplifies the highest standards of military training and support. Our training techniques have been honed over years of service to our country as Special Forces soldiers and we have adapted these proven training tactics, techniques, and procedures (TTP's) to provide the very best training to our customers regardless of the individual or collective requirements.

Our training development and delivery uses a blended learning approach, including a mix of conventional brick and mortar classroom training, hands-on training, and practical exercises that can incorporate various distance learning methodologies to reduce costs and enhance the learning experience.

We have trained thousands of military and government personnel in proven tactics, techniques, and procedures from basic marksmanship to enhanced computer forensics and sensitive site exploitation. Our extremely experienced cadre of instructors is composed of Special Operations Forces (SOF) Operators with tactical deployments in combat theaters of operation, as well as military intelligence and law enforcement experts who are leaders in their area of expertise.

Homeland Security Solutions, Inc. (HSSI) is a large training solutions, technology, and professional services company supporting law enforcement and security needs worldwide. We were established in 2002 by a team of military veteran law enforcement and government contracting professionals who were committed to service to our nation's military and public safety communities. We are proud that this same commitment to security, ethics, and positive change is ingrained into the culture of our organization. HSSI gives back to those who serve: 38% of our employees are veterans, 33% of those veterans are service disabled, and 18% of our staff are military dependents.

Our focus is our customer's mission and we measure success through our client's ability to overcome their challenges. We have experienced professional staff providing a full range of award winning services to law enforcement and security organizations at the Federal, State, local, military, and private sector levels.

MECHANICAL ADVANTAGE CONTROL HOLDS (MACH)

This technique is established as a national standard of subject control and defensive tactics that has been adopted into training curriculum and use of force policy at all levels of military, law enforcement, and security. MACH holds are a series of five techniques that is designed to work using positioning, joint manipulation, leverage and the subject's momentum against them; this allows for the relative differences in officer size and strength versus a subject's size and strength. The course begins with ensuring proper safety procedures are in place, and focus on Close Range Subject Control (CRSC) techniques as subject control and personal safety, and NOT specific hand or body placement. This class is an excellent foundation for less than lethal methods of control. MACH includes same techniques with baton.

Through calculated design and strategy, our entire team is committed to creating a unique brand for your organization.

‘SHELTR’™ Training Program—Unfortunately schools and other public venues around the world are becoming a target to foreign and domestic terrorism. The ‘SHELTR’ Training courses and Tactical Protective Gear gives schools, universities, or workplaces a chance to defend from an Active Threat. The Safety Hazard-Emergency-Lethal Threat Response (SHELTR) Training provides teachers, employees, maintenance staff, grounds keepers, etc. with training tools and techniques in which to keep their school or other location safe. These tools and techniques are meant to show how to create daily security routines, “LOOK” for things that are out of the norm, “REPORT” incidents in a timely and accurate manner, and “RESPOND” if your campus or workplace becomes engaged by a threat or crisis situation.
